The Real Differences Between
Gen Z, Millennials, Gen X,
Boomers, and Silents—and What They Mean
for America's Future generations

JEAN M. TWENGE, PHD

author of iGen

A Boomer Rabbi and a Millennial Rabbi walk into a classroom...

...and you get to see what happens next! In December, Rabbi Kopnick and Rabbi Zoot will be teaching about the new book, "Generations: The Real Differences Between Gen Z, Millennials, Gen X, Boomers, and Silents - and What They Mean for America's Future," written by renowned social scientist Jean Twenge. This will be an invigorating conversation about the ways that generational differences create both challenges and opportunities for Jewish communities, and how we can more thoughtfully and strategically engage those of all ages. This will be a learning highlight of the year, so don't miss the chance to join the discussion!

Tuesdays, December 3, 10, and 17 at 7:30 p.m.

From the Rabbi Sandford R. Kopnick

L’Dor VaClosed Dor?

In December, we’re reading the book Generations, by Jean M. Twenge. In preparing, it seems that the younger generations—those raised in the Iphone age, without remembering a time before e-mail—have some different values. This generation is more likely to have some emotional and anxiety issues—and are more individualistic and less connected to religion than ever recorded. And this list of the differences goes on.

When I think about our current membership—and the demographics of our congregation, it is not clear that the findings of the book are not the reality of our Valley experience. I have been blessed to be the officiant at many weddings of our graduates, and have welcomed these newly married folks into our midst as they expand their families with children. This creates an optimism for the future, to be sure.

However, we have to be careful. We are a smaller congregation—where the growth of our “Babies and Their Adults” class—our PreK class are all showing that the religious continues to rebound after the difficult years of the Great Recession and the horror of the pandemic. Yet, the national trends show people getting married much later, having fewer kids, and valuing social media more—frequently at the expense of in-person gatherings and religion.

I love that Valley continues to be a strong place to connect with each other personally. We have worked diligently to provide an above average streaming experience for services, some classes both on-line and in person as a hybrid. We also are an increased presence on social media. That said, nothing replaces that feeling of a hug gained from seeing family and friends in person. Recently my 10th grade Valley class reiterated this. They have experienced services online, but they much prefer the in person experience (and they were told they could tell me the truth)!

Just because tuning in via the streaming is easier, it doesn’t mean it should be the norm. People who are ill, who have trouble driving at night, or when the weather’s bad—these are the ones who should be streaming. (OK, I guess if you live out of town—you, too!) But please, return to joining us in the building whenever you can. Let’s continue to provide our younger generations with a robust community experience whenever we are celebrating, mourning, or learning together.

Let’s not close the door on l’dor vador (from generation to generation). And by all means, join us as we discuss the ways the various generations perceive each other and are influenced by the world in which we live—when we begin our series on Tuesday, December 3 at 7:30 p.m. Oh, and by the way—have a great Chanukah, too!

Faithfully,

Sandford R. Kopnick, Rabbi

Rabbi/Educator's Message Austin Zoot

When was the last time that you had a day with nothing on the calendar? A day when you didn't have a to-do list a mile long, a day when your only obligation was to yourself? It seems like this is a rare idea, especially for young families. We bounce from activity to activity, from expectation to expectation, and are forced to figure out how to rejuvenate on the fly without missing a beat. This is the way of the modern world. But it isn't sustainable, and it isn't healthy. Luckily for us, Judaism has a built in system for breaking out of this chain of hustle and bustle.

Shabbat has been our collective way to give ourselves a chance to breathe for thousands of years. Unfortunately, there are many who see Shabbat as an obligation unto itself. Having to get dressed up to go to services, having to go to the trouble of making a special meal, having to go to the trouble even to clear the calendar to give everyone the chance to make Shabbat. It seems that sometimes our rest can be exhausting too.

We are coming to that time of the year, though, where things naturally slow down. The days get shorter, the weather gets colder, and we often have collective opportunities for some time away from work and school. It is certainly a normal inclination to fill that time with adventures, vacations, and activities. But we also have the chance to consider what it would mean to use the natural slowing-down of the calendar to craft moments of intentional stillness and reflection. Rather than filling those empty pockets of time with extra chances to engage, what would it look like if we reserved those sacred moments as the time for family togetherness, for investment in the self, for the quiet that allows us to better know ourselves?

All winter long, Valley Temple will be right here on Shabbat. Services will be a sacred space for calm and reflection. Oneg Shabbat will be a continuous place of laughter and community. Saturday mornings will continue to be the time for learning and thinking and praying and meditating. However we can help you to invest in your own healing and rejuvenation, we are here to make it happen. Abraham Joshua Heschel once put it this way: "Six days a week we wrestle with the world, wringing profit from the earth; on the Sabbath we especially care for the seed of eternity planted in the soul...Six days a week we seek to dominate the world; on the seventh day we try to dominate the self."

The world asks a lot of us. During these next few weeks, how can we ask less, and instead give ourselves the space to find some answers?

President's Message
Neil Berman

Hi everyone. Winter will soon be here! I thought I would highlight some upcoming events at Valley Temple for you to consider attending.

First, we have some special Shabbat services coming up in December. December 6th will feature the Friday Night Live band. December 13th will be a Family Shabbat service. December 20th will be our annual pre-Chanukah dinner followed by an evening service where we will have Consecration for our students who are new to our Religious School. Look for more detail in the bulletin or a separate mailing. Chanukah begins this year on the evening of December 25th. As a side note, I prefer "later" Chanukah so it doesn't come too close to Thanksgiving, and because I am usually on vacation later in December and school is out!

Also, there will be adult education on December 3rd, 10th and 17th at 7:30 p.m., which will have a book discussion on "Generations: The Real Differences Between Gen Z, Millennials, Gen X, Boomers, and Silents – and What They Mean for America's Future" by Jean M. Twenge, PhD. The program will be run by Rabbis Kopnick and Zoot. All generations welcome! Finally, we are preliminarily working on a fun fund raising event for March 1, 2025. Nothing is finalized yet, but save the date and hope to have more details soon!

Best,

Neil Berman
President

This month we are collecting donations for the Jewish Family Service Heldman Family Food Pantry. Per their website, “we try to solve food struggles as quickly as possible, but that’s only the beginning. ## SOCIAL JUSTICE ACTIVITIES

We work closely with the Religious Action Center of Reform Judaism nationally, and in Ohio (RAC-OH) throughout the year, to coordinate advocacy activities, including postcard-writing, canvassing, and education related to public policies that have been identified by the Union of Reform Judaism (URJ) and local/state congregations.

The results of the November election have left our Reform Jewish community with many questions, concerns and worries about what the future will hold. Our congregation can feel some gratification that we sent out over 1,000 postcards, in Ohio to support fair districting, and in other states to promote reproductive rights, and other issues of justice. We also have collected ~$1,000 worth of gift cards to provide essential goods to the Haitian community in Springfield, Ohio.

Our congregation will continue to advocate for justice in our community and our country.

We do not know what challenges will face us in 2025, but let’s join together in meeting them head-on!

Please check out the websites of the Religious Action Center of Reform Judaism or the Union for Reform Judaism for more information on these campaigns.

First Candle: Wednesday, December 25

- ★ Candles are added to the Chanukiyah (menorah) from right to left, and are kindled left to right. The newest candle is lit first.
- ★ On the Shabbat of Chanukah, kindle the Chanukah lights first, and then the Shabbat candles.

Light the shamash (helper candle) first, using it to kindle the rest of the Chanukah lights. As you do, say or sing:

בָּרוּךְ אַתָּה יי אֱלֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶךְ הָעוֹלָם, אֲשֶׁר קִדְּשָׁנוּ
בְּמִצְוֹתָיו, וְצִוָּנוּ לְהַדְלִיק נֵר שֶׁל חֲנֻכָּה.

Baruch Atah, Adonai Eloheinu, Melech haolam, asher kid'shanu b'mitzvotav v'tsivanu l'hadlik nehr shel Chanukah.

Blessed are you, Adonai our God, Sovereign of all, who hallows us with mitzvot, commanding us to kindle the Chanukah lights.

בָּרוּךְ אַתָּה יי אֱלֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶךְ הָעוֹלָם, שֶׁעָשָׂה נִסִּים לְאַבוֹתֵינוּ

Blessed are you, Adonai our God, Sovereign of all, who performed wondrous deeds for our ancestors in days of old at this season.

On the first night only

בָּרוּךְ אַתָּה יי אֱלֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶךְ הָעוֹלָם, שֶׁהַחַיָּנוּ וְקִיַּמְנוּ
